Fresenius Medical Care Proposes Share Split of 1:3

Bad Homburg, Germany – Fresenius Medical Care AG & Co. KGaA today announced that it will propose a share split for both classes of shares (ordinary and preferred) in the ratio of 1:3 to the next General Shareholder Meeting on May 15, 2007.

The strong performance of the company in recent years has led to a sharp increase in the share price. The price per ordinary share is currently one of the highest in Germany's DAX index. A share split would significantly lower the price of the individual Fresenius Medical Care share. The proposed share split is intended to promote more trading activity in Fresenius Medical Care shares and to increase the shares' attractiveness for a broader group of investors.

Through a conversion of capital reserves, the subscribed capital of Fresenius Medical Care AG & Co. KGaA is first increased to €295.2 million. The subscribed capital is then divided into 291,449,373 ordinary shares and 3,711,435 preference shares. The new amount of the subscribed capital will then be €1.00 per share. After the share split, every holder of an ordinary share will hold three ordinary shares and every holder of a preference share will hold three preference shares. As a result of the share split, the price level will be reduced arithmetically without affecting the overall value for shareholders.

For American Depositary Share (ADS) Investors:

Fresenius Medical Care shares are traded on the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) in (NYSE) in the form of ADSs. Currently, the ratio between the ordinary and preference ADS and the underlying ordinary and preference shares is 3:1, meaning that three Fresenius Medical Care ordinary or preference ADSs are the equivalent of one Fresenius Medical Care ordinary or preference share. Upon approval of the proposed share split and the registration with the commercial register, each Fresenius Medical Care ordinary or preference ADS will represent one Fresenius Medical Care ordinary or preference share.
